

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an optical pickup of the invention, the center of a laser beam incident on a dichroic prism can easily correspond to the center of an objective lens by a heat sink, which is held by a boss portion inserted into a through hole provided in an optical base and a boss plate having a plane portion in which the boss portion can be moved in the through hole in a direction orthogonal to an axis line of the boss portion.

5